Co-op's Retrench

The following dispatch from Danville to Times-Dispatch says: Practically all of the employees of the Tri-State Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association severed their connection with the organization at midnight April 30th.

Only those who are necessary for the maintenance of property and stocks of tobacco on hand are being retained. The purpose of this sweeping elimination is to save the pool money.

Most of the warehouse managers in the bright section are being retained. They are on the payroll of the Bright Tobacco Warehouse Corporation, which is a subsidiary of the pool. Property is being released also on a whole sale scale and the pool is retaining only sufficient delivery houses to take care of anticipated receipts next season. These are expected to be small.

An official of the pool stated today that the future of the pool in the Old Belt depends entirely on the expression at the meeting to be held in Danville on May 10. Efforts are being made to drive home to the farmer his individual responsibility to attend and to give an expression so that whatever action is taken may be representative of the growers as a whole.

Developments here within the last few days have strengthened the belief that little or no tobacco will be pooled in this belt this coming season. The crop curtailment is expected to be heavy as many of the farmers have not been able to buy their normal supply of fertilizer.

The sign-up in Appomattox is not progressing as satisfactorily as was expected by Manager Morton and others. It is the opinion of growers generally that the old organization should liquidate and release 1926 crop.

It is claimed that this would materially help the sign-up in this dark belt.

The usual crop is being pitched here, but farmers feel uncertain as to the price the 1926 crop will bring on the open floor.

United States Tires are Good

Ford

Highest in Quality

The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steel—which comprises the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steel than you get in a Ford.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price

Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry, make Ford prices possible.

Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.

Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.
